No Night School. As MANY people have made inquiry concerning the night school of the National Business College, the managers of that institution desire to make the following statement: "The day school is so large, and the prospects are that it will grow much larger by the end of this week, that we feel we could not do justice to the night class or to ourselves. We thank those who patronized us last year, and hope circumstances will be such that they can enter the day session school."

BONSACK NOTES The frost and the drouth have effect-ually suspended farming operations in this locality for the season, but in spite of all drawbacks business is materially this locality for the season, but in spite of all drawbacks business is materially improving.

James Sims and Miss Amanda S. Turner were married on the evening of October 1 by Rev. W. W. Hamilton at Blue Ridge Church in the presence of a large congregation.

Interest in politics is increasing as the day of election approaches and matters and things in that connection are actively discussed. The citizens ticket has many friends in this section, the exceptionally good character of the candidates as men and citizens especially commending them to the favorable consideration of the people. Here is what some of them say in passing:

Dr. Jno. A. Poague, Bonsack, says: "What we need is men to represent us who will go for the best interests of the country. The Christian interests of the country. The Christian interests of the country. The Christian interests of the country. I believe, will be best subserved by supporting this ticket."

Benj. McCulloch, near Vinton, is much pleased with the ticket and says: "I expect to support the ticket, not so much for the men who are on it, as for the principles embodied."

J. W. Bonsack, of Bonsack, says: "I am perfectly satisfied with the ticket principles embodied."

J. W. Bonsack, of Bonsack, says: "I am perfectly satisfied with the ticket and will give it my hearty and unqualified support."

W. M. Cook, of Bonsack, says: "We want men, not party men strictly, but men of sterling worth, representing principles which every Christian can consistently endorse. This, I believe, is represented by this ticket."

J. A. Jeter, living in Botetourt, says: "Though I cannot vote for it, yet it is the ticket for the people and the voters of Roanoke county."
